

Children will be happier, far happier, under proper discipline
than if left to do as their untrained impulses suggest.

Be careful that you are not rude to your children...
Require obedience, and do not allow yourself to speak carelessly to your children, because your manners and your words are their lesson book.
Help them gently, tenderly over this period of their life.

Let the sunshine of your presence make sunshine in their hearts. These growing boys and girls feel very sensitive, and by roughness you may mar their whole life. Be careful, mothers; never scold, for that never helps.

Too much importance cannot be placed on the early training of children. The lessons that the child learns during the first seven years of life have more to do with forming his character than all that it learns in future years.
